“SUPPORTING SHOES THAT FIT WAS A SLAM DUNK FOR OUR FOUNDATION.”

NBA SUPERSTAR CHRIS PAUL DONATES $25,000 TO SHOES THAT FIT

Shoes That Fit was featured at the Chris Paul Family Foundation’s Celebrity Servers Dinner in December. Clippers Blake Griffin and DeAndre Jordan helped serve those in attendance.

The Foundation later partnered with Shoes That Fit and Rack Room Shoes, headquartered in Charlotte, NC, to provide 150 students at Easton Elementary School in Chris’ home town of Winston Salem, NC with brand new athletic shoes for school.

“Through our connection with Shoes That Fit, we have been able to reach families and children nationwide, working together to provide thousands of shoes to those who need it most,” said Brenda Christmon, Marketing Manager with Rack Room.

“Shoes That Fit and the Foundation are a perfect match because we both care about kids and ensuring they have what they need to be successful,” said Chris’ mother, Robin, who spearheaded the Easton donation and was on hand for the delivery along with Chris’ father, Charles.

“Supporting Shoes That Fit was a slam dunk for our Foundation,” said Chris.
"We’re proud of our long-standing partnership with Shoes That Fit. Thanks to support from our customers and New Balance, this year we were able to give more shoes than ever before. We believe so strongly in the work Shoes That Fit is doing in the communities we serve, and we’re honored to play a part."

– Michele Love, Vice President Director of Stores, Nordstrom Rack

It was truly exciting to have participation from every Nordstrom and Nordstrom Rack store across the United States. "As a company, we choose to focus our giving on organizations that are caring for kids and empowering youth. Shoes That Fit aligns perfectly with that goal, and we feel good knowing we’re partnering with an organization that spends nearly every dollar they receive on children who need it most.”

– Terri Baldwin, Nordstrom Charitable Giving Director

Our sincere gratitude to Nordstrom customers and employees for spreading cheer to thousands of children in need. To learn more about Nordstrom’s community involvement and to find a store near you, visit www.nordstrom.com.
CLINT ROBINSON MAKES AN IMPACT OFF THE FIELD

For the second year in a row, Washington Nationals first baseman Clint Robinson helped 25 children receive new shoes for school. Clint previously played for the Kansas City Royals and Los Angeles Dodgers. In conjunction with New Balance Baseball, he is committed to helping children in need.

TEAM SHOES THAT FIT!

#TeamShoesThatFit donned their track shoes and ran or walked in the Holiday Half Marathon and 5K held in December at the Los Angeles County Fairplex in Pomona, CA. Our team members raised money and shoes for local children. Special thanks to our corporate sponsors, including: Pomona Valley Hospital Medical Center, Stark & Associates, Claremont Lincoln University, The Claremont Club, Perrera Construction, Foothill Transit, Vulcan Materials, Claremont Craft Ales and Trader Joe’s in Claremont. Our dedicated team and incredible sponsors raised more than $18,000 to help local children receive new shoes over the holidays.

SHOES THAT FIT AND LAPD PARTNER TO PROVIDE HOLIDAY CHEER

On December 17th, Los Angeles Police Department 77th Street Division and Shoes That Fit presented “Operation Shoes from Santa,” a holiday shoe drive for underprivileged children in South Los Angeles. LAPD personnel turned the police station into a Winter Wonderland with real snow, live reindeer and the arrival of Santa and Mrs. Claus by helicopter...not to mention brand new athletic shoes for school. Shoes That Fit staff, Police Officers and young police cadets distributed more than 1,000 pairs of new shoes.
Southern California Edison Volunteer Grows Shoes That Fit Over 14 Years

Pam Arnold is the perfect example of what a unique force Southern California Edison volunteers are. Pam is the mother of four—two teenagers and two adopted children ages 3 and 5. She has been involved in community volunteering for more than 14 years. In 2000, Pam organized a chapter of Shoes That Fit, a nonprofit that provides shoes to children in need. Since then, Pam has continued to help run the program and raise financial support for Shoes That Fit every year, even though she is no longer in HR. She even brought the program to her church. "It just makes sense," Pam says of her Shoes That Fit program. "You know that 100% of your shoe contribution goes directly to that child. We know that the school has chosen the children who need the help most. And we always make sure that each kid goes away with shoes that actually fit." Pam continues to help run the program and raise financial support for Shoes That Fit every year, even though she is no longer in HR. She even brought the program to her church. Every child deserves shoes that fit — and smiles as bright as these.
I want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart for Shoes That Fit. Because my mommy couldn’t buy me a pair of shoes because we were in a fire and lost almost everything. Now with you guys being able to give me a pair, my mom won’t be so stressed. Thank you!

NEW SHOES GIVE HOPE

Life had taught Afrodita and her family to be wary of strangers, to keep to themselves. But on the day Shoes That Fit came to her school, everything changed.

“It was like those shoes broke a wall of ice,” says Sandra Adolph, Community Assistant for the Riverside [California] County Office of Education. “She was very shy. Not only her, her whole family. When we delivered those shoes, school became a special place in all of their lives.”

“With those beautiful shoes chosen just for her, she just opened up,” says Sandra. “She’s more talkative. She’s better able to follow instructions.”

The gift of these shoes to Afrodita and her siblings helped to create trust between the school and the family. Her parents are more open and participate more in school activities and her brother, who had given up on high school, is now back on track to graduate.
